

CALLING ON THE DESCENDANTS OF THOSE MEN WHO SERVED ON BOARD THE SS MENDI

“At the going down of the sun and in the morning we will remember them.”

By Lt Cdr Glenn von Zeil PB JCD

The South African Department of Defence and Military Veterans would like to make contact with any family members of those who were on the SS Mendi. The men of the South African Native Labour Corps (SANLC) did not receive medals for service in World War 1. The intention is to mint a special medal in the men's honour for the centenary ceremony in 2017. Descendants are requested to contact the South African Department of Defence and Military Veterans. Please see the regional contact details below and the Roll of honour to the SS Mendi as per Commonwealth War Graves Commission records.

The SS Mendi memorial, located on the University of Cape Town's (UCT) Lower Campus, underwent an extensive upgrade to the site in 2014.

The memorial was originally sited where the old Rosebank Show Grounds stood and where the men of the 5th Battalion of the SANLC were trained and spend their last night on South African soil on 15 January 1917.

It was commissioned by the Sunday Times as part of their centenary activities in 2006. The artwork was designed by artist Madi Phala whose works are also found in several private collections including De Beers in London and Renault South Africa. The memorial depicts in steel the skeletal bows of a ship with bronze helmets and caps etched with the number of officers, non-commissioned officers, crew and troops who died.

The memorial, which now includes a retaining wall, roll of honour and interpretive plaque, was upgraded by UCT after commissioning architect Trevor Thorold. The architect worked with Brig General (Ret) John Del Monte and Gunner Kevin Ashton to design something appropriate. The memorial is now befitting the honour of the 616 South Africans and 31 crew who died on the morning of 21 February 1917 when the SS Mendi was struck by the SS Darro in the English Channel, near the Isle of Wight.

According to reports from survivors the members of the SANLC danced barefoot on the tilting deck of the SS Mendi before she sank. Prior to this the Reverend Isaac Wauchope Dyobha, who accompanied the troops as a chaplain, inspired the men with the words “What is happening now is what you came to do...you are going to die, but that is what you came to do...I, a Xhosa, say you are my brothers...Swazis, Pondos, Bashotho...so let us die like brothers.”

It is due to their bravery and sacrifice and in their memory that the contemporary South African bravery award is titled the Order of Mendi, one of the Valour Class Frigates is named SAS MENDI and a Warrior Class Strike Craft SAS ISAAC DYOBHA.

On 19 October 2014 during a rededication wreath laying parade at UCT, rounded pebbles from the Atlantic beaches were placed on the memorial in memory of the fallen and the artist Madi Phala, who was murdered in 2007. These stones now add to the finishes of the memorial as the artist's wish was that the memorial should be part of the environment.
